

Allegion Named 2026 Gallup Exceptional Workplace Award Winner ‘With Distinction’

DUBLIN--(BUSINESS WIRE)-- Allegion plc (NYSE: ALLE), a leading global security products and solutions provider, has been named a 2026 Gallup Exceptional Workplace Award (GEWA) Winner for the third consecutive year. This honor recognizes the most engaged workplace cultures in the world.

New this year, Allegion is one of five winners “With Distinction,” recognizing the company’s significant achievements in implementing strategic initiatives to further engagement and help employees thrive, serving as a true best practice example of what’s possible. Gallup found that Allegion continues to set the standard for building a thriving, high-performance culture through an emphasis on team members’ individual strengths, creating an environment where employees feel valued, heard and equipped to do their best work.

“We’re committed to creating an environment where people are invested in and celebrated for who they are,” said Jen Hawes, Allegion senior vice president and chief human resources officer. “That kind of culture not only helps our current employees thrive – it also attracts talented people who want to grow their careers with us.”

“We know highly engaged teams deliver stronger results for our customers, our partners and our shareholders,” added John H. Stone, Allegion president and CEO. “When our people are empowered and connected to our purpose, they solve complex problems, innovate and drive our business forward.”

Gallup’s research – spanning a comprehensive analysis of team engagement and performance data across more than 3.3 million employees and 90 countries – consistently shows organizations that prioritize both people and performance are better positioned for long-term success. According to Gallup, highly engaged organizations significantly outperform their peers on important business outcomes, including customer ratings, profitability, productivity, turnover, safety incidents, shrinkage, absenteeism, quality, wellbeing and organizational citizenship.
